Dear Osha Official:

A buddy of mine told me that some ban is getting ready to come out of your office that will mean I can't smoke in my rig. So what if you say my cab is a "workplace" and falls under your control. You can't tell me I can't smoke in my truck when I'm rolling down the interstates by myself. That's bad enough! But, to also say no smoking in truckstops, motels and restaurants is stupid. Our lives are spent in the cabs of our trucks and in these places!

I really don't think the American people will actually tolerate something like this. Most truckdrivers I work with are hardworking, and considerate individuals. They respect nonsmokers and try not to smoke around them.

I just know one thing. I am sick and tired of the government barging into things that are none of its business!
